

My Next Holidays

I am flying to London with my family on the 18th of December. We are staying in a modern, 5-star hotel in the City, near Saint Paul's Cathedral. A cab is picking us up at the airport as soon as our plane arrives in London. The next day, we are eating out at an expensive, fancy restaurant in Chiswick. My daughter bought some Oyster cards online, so we are getting to Chiswick on the tube. We are also visiting the British Museum, and we're going to see the Rosetta Stone.

We are going to go sightseeing round the city centre, and then go shopping in the high street stores. We are also going to the Billy Elliot musical. On our second day, we are going to see Buckingham Palace and Big Ben. I think we are not going to go to Tower Bridge or the London eye. After that, we are going on a tour round Portobello Road and Camden Town on a double-decker bus. Finally, we are going for a walk in Hyde Park.

I believe the weather will be bright and sunny, but my son thinks it will be foggy and miserable. But don't worry, I'll email you some photos and text you when I am back in Seville. I promise I will buy you a nice souvenir. I think it will be the best holiday of my life, because I will probably fall in love with a millionaire.

Can you please pick me up at the airport? I am flying back on Christmas' eve. Don't forget that my plane arrives at the airport at midday.
