

You know you've drunk more than the legal limit, but you think you're OK to drive.

Do you take the risk?

Your ex-boyfriend / girlfriend sends you an expensive gift. You have a new boyfriend / girlfriend.

Do you accept the gift?

Your friend has a new hairstyle which looks ridiculous.

Do you risk offending your friend by telling him/her this?

Your sister is engaged to a man you don't like. Worse than that, you think he is in trouble.

Do you try and persuade her not to marry him?

You accidentally come across your boyfriend / girlfriend's personal diary.

Do you open it?

You give your boyfriend / girlfriend an expensive gift, but one month later you break up.

Do you ask for it back?

You buy some jeans that cost $90, but when you go to pay the amount comes up on the till as $82.

Do you tell the store assistant?

Someone you don't like much invites you to an expensive restaurant that you really want to go.

Do you accept the invitation?

You go to the nearest ATM to withdraw some money and realize that the previous customer has forgotten his/her credit card in it.

Do you give it back to the bank/owner without even looking at his/her balance?

Your friends come around to watch TV. After they've gone, you find $20 sitting on the sofa.

Do you return it to whoever left it behind?

The cashier at your local grocery store gives you 50cents more change than he should have.

Do you tell him?

Your best friend asks to borrow $200 from you for a year.

Do you charge him/her interest?

You are in a parking lot, and accidentally reverse your car into another one.

Do you leave a note taking responsibility?

Your boyfriend / girlfriend is developing a good friendship with an attractive person of the opposite sex, but says they are “just friends”.

Do you ask him/her to stop meeting this person?

One of your best friends tells you something personal that you must keep secret. However, it’s really interesting gossip.

Do you tell anyone?

